Ken is a member of the firm's national real estate practice group. Ken's client base includes private equity funds, institutional investors, project sponsors, and other real estate developers, owners, operators, and managers ranging from large publicly traded companies to family businesses. While Ken's most extensive experience is in the senior living and retail sectors, his experience runs the gamut across all real estate asset classes, including multifamily, office, hospitality, and industrial. He advises his clients on their joint ventures, acquisitions, dispositions, and financing transactions, both in structuring and restructuring the ownership, investment, and financing (both mortgage and mezzanine) vehicles for such transactions. Ken represents clients in both portfolio and single-asset transactions nationwide in connection with the acquisition and sale of properties and loans secured by such properties and/or the equity interests in their owners.

Ken's representation of both project sponsors and investors, as well as his understanding of his clients' businesses, enables him to develop and implement practical legal strategies to allow his clients to achieve their business objectives. This skill set contributed to Ken being recognized as a Washington, DC "Deal Maker of the Year" by the National Law Journal and a Top 2022 Real Estate Lawyer in Washingtonian Magazine. Ken is consistently recognized by Legal 500 US and Chambers USA. Ken was described recently by Legal 500 as providing "practical and effective advice from both a legal and a business perspective." Clients have informed Chambers that "Ken is an outstanding lawyer, easy to work with, responsive, and very attentive."

Client Work

Recent representations include the following:

- Representing DLC Management Corporation, a private real estate owner and operator of more than 78 shopping centers in 20 states, since 1999 on more than $3.5 billion of transactions, including financings, acquisitions, dispositions, and joint ventures on both an individual and portfolio basis.
- Representing South Bay Partners, LLC, a private real estate developer that specializes in senior living communities, both in its own capacity and its capacity as co-general partner of SBLP Senior Living Fund I, LP, a private equity fund focused exclusively on senior living. As South Bay's lead counsel on all transactional matters, Ken has represented South Bay in acquisitions, sales, development, joint ventures, and financing of senior living communities ranging from $25 million to $230 million (development cost) located in seven states.

- Representing two private equity firms in the structuring of the investment holding vehicles, developments, construction, joint ventures, acquisitions, sales, and financing of their senior living portfolios aggregating over $3 billion in asset value.
- Representing an iconic fashion brand in the redevelopment of its flagship store in Manhattan as a mixed use project including the store and luxury apartments.
